PRESIDENT TO USE PRESSURE

IS ANXIOUS TO HAVE TREATY WITH SPAIN RATIFIED.

Will Use His Influence With Senators to Secure an Endorsement of His Policy—Views of a Cabinet Officer American Example In Cuba Produces Good Effect.

Washington, Jan. 27.—[Special]—Figuratively speaking the president has taken off his coat and gone to work to save the Spanish-American treaty. The opponents of the treaty have been exceedingly active for weeks; now its friends propose to take an inning. All day yesterday and today the president has been unusually busy. He denied himself to many callers at the white house, but a senator's card—and many were presented during the day—opened wide the doors of his private room. Those who called were uncommunicative, but enough was learned to establish beyond dispute the fact that the president is using both his personal and official influence on behalf of treaty ratification, and that he will be successful in his endeavors there can be little question.

The pressure being exercised by Mr. McKinley is of a different kind, however, from that exercised by President Cleveland to secure the passage of the financial measures that occupied so much of the time of the extra session of 1896. Then, it will be remembered, Mr. Cleveland "held up" all appointments. That is, he refused to fill the federal offices with friends of such senators as opposed the passage of the pending act, and by this means brought over a number of hesitating statesmen to his way of thinking. But President McKinley will depend for the most part upon less extreme and arbitrary measures. He desires to avoid even the appearance of coercion, and has given it out that the action of senators in the present emergency will have no effect upon the filling of the offices. Yet those who desire to stand well at the White House understand that agreement with the president's policy will have a tendency to accelerate action in some directions, and perhaps they will act accordingly. It is a quiet little game that is being played, and those in it know that the president holds the biggest trumps.

EFFECT OF RATIFICATION

It Would Change the Political Status of Aguinaldo and His Followers

Washington, Jan. 27.—A member of the cabinet, in discussing the effects of the ratification of the peace treaty with Spain upon the Philippines, states the case thus:

"As matters now stand, the insurgents are Spanish subjects, and under the terms of the protocol this government is restrained from making war upon them. Of course our soldiers can act on the defensive and will undoubtedly resist with all the means at their command if they are attacked by the insurgents. Aguinaldo understands the situation perfectly, and while maintaining an attitude of hostility toward this government he is not likely to precipitate a conflict between his followers and the American troops. He is perfectly secure so long as the status quo is maintained, but the ratification of the treaty will change the situation in the Philippines."

"The Filipinos will no longer be Spanish citizens, but will become subject to the sovereignty of the United States. Then, if they persist in a hostile attitude toward this government, they will be treated as rebellious subjects."

"The president will issue his proclamation calling upon Aguinaldo and his followers to lay down their arms and acknowledge their allegiance to this government. If they fail to obey this proclamation within a reasonable time the army and navy of the United States will be used to put down the rebellion in the archipelago."

THE FORCE OF EXAMPLE

Cubans Are Surprised at Americans' Cheerful Obedience to Law.

Washington, Jan. 27.—[Special]—The good example set by the Americans residing in Cuba of strict and cheerful obedience to law is having a good effect upon the natives. Hitherto the law has been synonymous with oppression on the island and the Cubans have learned to hate the term. Now they are astonished to see how unquestionably the Americans respect the regulations for the government of the community, and are beginning to regard it as not such a terrible thing as they have been accustomed to regard it. The most important results are looked for from this cause.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 27.—In the house Thursday Mr. Zina offered a resolution setting forth that during the last sixteen years there has been no legislative inquiry as to whether the Illinois Central railroad had paid all of the proportion of its gross receipts required by law and requesting the governor to furnish to the house full information on the subject. This was referred to the committee on railroads.

Aside from the introduction of bills no business of importance was transacted in the senate. Bills were introduced in the house as follows:

By Mr. Ailing, to punish sedition; by Mr. Graybill, to punish bribery at elections and to limit the expenditures of candidates for public offices; by Mr. Lewis, to prevent the introduction and spread in Illinois of San Jose scale and other insects injurious to fruit; by Mr. Partridge, to establish a state colony for epileptics, providing for the purchase of a site consisting of not less than 500 acres of land, upon which shall be erected cottages for dormitory purposes, buildings for an infirmary, schoolhouse and chapel and workshops for trades and industries; by Mr. Scroggin, making appropriations to the Illinois State Normal university at Normal; also a bill making the Australian ballot law applicable to primary elections in all cities of less than 125,000 inhabitants.

BLIZZARD IN PENINSULA.

Searching Parties Are Out Looking for Missing People.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 27.—The upper peninsula experienced the worst blizzard in years Thursday. At Crystal Falls the snow piled ten feet high in many places, and some fears have been felt for the safety of eight school teachers who left there just before the blizzard set in to drive across the country to Sagola, a station on the St. Paul railroad. It is possible they may have sought shelter at some farmhouse.

Calumet reports three men missing, with searching parties out in all directions. Business was practically suspended all day all over the peninsula. The railroads are in difficulties, and all trains are behind schedule time.

TOUCHES EGAN'S MENTAL CONDITION

TESTIMONY BEFORE COURT MARTIAL TODAY.

Most of the Witnesses Certify That the Accused Was Unduly Excitable and of Unbalanced Mind—Secretary Alger Tells His Part in the Controversy.

Washington, Jan. 27.—[Special]—The Egan court martial reconvened at ten this morning. David R. McKee had known Egan for forty years as a warm friend, and told the court, of the preoccupied and nervous bearing of Egan. He feared he had lost his mind. Major Miles testified that the president's promise of immunity to witnesses had not been put in writing.

Secretary of War Alger was the next witness. He detailed a conversation between Egan and himself in which the former expressed a desire to prefer charges against Gen. Miles. "Under the president's promise," I told him, "it could not be done. The president himself had given that order to me." No other questions were propounded.

The court arose as Gen. Alger came and went.

Col. George B. Davis and Alexander were recalled and testified as to the habits of Gen. Egan. He was always mild in speech, never violent or coarse. Dr. Hopkins, the son-in-law of Egan, said the latter was distracted. He told his wife the general needed watching. He feared his mind was affected.

Mrs. Hopkins, daughter of Gen. Egan, said her father appeared, paper in hand, and said, "Miles has crucified me." He was changed after that. We entertained the gravest fears.

Counsel Worthington announced that the accused rested his case.

After a recess he began the argument. He said the witnesses before the court were not answerable to another court for the language used in the first court in response to pertinent or relevant questions. "Doubly privileged," he said, "is my client by the president's promise there would be no court martial to try officers for utterances before the commission of inquiry." Col. Davis submitted the case, and the court then considered it in secret.

COOK GAINS VOTES FOR SENATORSHIP

HIS STRENGTH RISES TO 20 IN JOINT CONVENTION.

Bill Regarding Qualifications For School Superintendent—Anti-Pass Bill Reported By Railroad Committee—Barber's Bill Fathered By Mr. Wheeler, of This City.

Madison, Jan. 27.—[Special]—Both houses took a recess early this morning, after short sessions, to go into caucus on the senatorship. The voting opened on the forty-seventh ballot, and on this Galloway, of Sheboygan; Willy, of Appleton; and Willott, of Manitowoc, left the Stephenson column and went to Cook, making the vote: Quarles, 42; Stephenson, 22; Babcock, 16; Cook, 20; Webb, 10. The voting continued the same up to the seventy-seventh ballot, when an adjournment was taken until 3 o'clock.

Assemblyman Wheeler introduced a bill to license barbers in the lower house today. It provides for an examining board of three.

Mr. Battles had a bill making those holding a diploma of a regular college course or full normal school course eligible to the position of county superintendent.

Another bill by Mr. Frost provides that cities shall not be preferred creditors in insolvent banks.

The familiar bill providing for a state purchasing agent also came into the assembly.

A few minor bills came into the senate.

The railroad committee reported an anti-pass bill in accordance with the governor's message. The bill provides for a law to go into effect as soon as enacted, and also for a constitutional amendment. Senator Withee, chairman of the railroad committee, introduced the measure, and it was prepared by that committee under the advice of the attorney general.

At noon both the houses met in joint convention and ballotted for senator.

The only change from yesterday was the same as in caucus this morning. Both houses adjourned until 10 tomorrow morning, probably the first time in history that a Saturday session has been held so early in the session.

The change in the republican caucus this afternoon was Hoechle from Stephenson to Cook. It is understood that the four changes are only temporary.

REFORMING YOUNG CRIMINALS

Lecture of Allen L. Fowler Before the Men's Club of Christ Church

Before the Men's Club of Christ church last evening, Allen Lester Fowler, of Chicago, delivered his lecture on "The Relation Between the Criminal and the Non-Criminal Classes." Mr. Fowler is a pleasant speaker, logical and frequently rising to flights of eloquence. He approved of the plan recently adopted in Wisconsin of trying to effect the reformation of the younger class of criminals, by keeping them separated from the older and more hardened criminals, and providing them with advantages in the way of work and education.

Mr. Fowler was of the opinion that if the younger class were kept away from the older one, that in three generations it would do away with the criminal element. He read extracts from the Cook county jailor's reports and addresses to substantiate his statements. He thought that if members of society would interest themselves in the criminal classes and lend them a helping hand, giving them their moral support, it would tend to benefit them greatly as a class.

Following Mr. Fowler's address a discussion of the evening's theme took place, participated in by District Attorney William A. Jackson, Municipal Judge Charles L. Fifield, William Rager and City Treasurer James A. Fathers. The club will have no more meetings until after Lent.

LIFE IN THE LEVANT.

The Oriental official chuckled gleefully. The iron boot had been placed on the foot of the victim, and the royal minnows were screwing it tighter and tighter to force a confession from his lips. "Aha!" merrily laughed the official. "Dost thou not feel almost persuaded to confess that thou wert in a conspiracy to poison the waters of the Golden Horn with the contents of the vial which my faithful officers found in thy pocket?" By the beard of the prophet! Screw tighter, men, for he seems to be enjoying the whole affair!" "Why, you doddering old fossil!" cheerfully replied the victim, "that vial had corn cure in it; and as for your old fashioned iron boot here, why, let me tell you that I lived in America, when the styles of shoes changed from broad toes to pointed. Screw away! You bring to my memory a hundred society dances in New York."—New York Journal.

Much sympathy is expressed for the family of Mr. M. McCarthy in the death of their daughter and sister, Maggie, wife of Frank Johnson, of Darien. The deceased was a sister of Chas. McCarty, of this place, and had won many friends here by her bright amiable nature. Besides a husband and son she leaves a host of friends to mourn her untimely demise.

Shopiere.

Shopiere, Jan. 26—Some of the sick folks are beginning to show themselves, and the most of them are afflicted with a cough that seems very hard to get rid of. Jerome Shimmeil bought up a fine car load of hogs for the Chicago market the first of the week. He will soon be ready to give good prices for another lot. There is one young man in town who will be ready for the party on Friday evening, and he will not be obliged to buy a mask either. George T. gav him one. Our postmaster's family did not escape the grip, but the mails are on time just the same, and since Tiffany has become deserted our office handles more mail than ever. Henry Hasmin and Mr. Jarolamin have cut the ice from the greater portion of the pond. The demand for ice has been very good this winter and it is of the best quality. Mr. J. Dunn, of Janesville, has been making our people a call. He seems to be in excellent spirits.

Willowdale.

Willowdale, Jan. 27—All the tobacco in this vicinity with the exception of a few crops has been sold and delivered.

Mr. Holms has been drawing large quantities of corn to town during the last few weeks. E. B. Inkman is doing a thriving business this winter, receiving about 6,000 pounds of milk every other day which is considered a large amount for this time of the year. We learn that Mr. Fitch is about to rent his farm. We are sorry to lose an old neighbor. George Ellis and Rosie Hatton were married at Orford last Wednesday. Congratulations are in order. Clark Popple is on the sick list. Mr. and Mrs. D. Ryan are mowing the loss of one of their horses.

The danger, however, is by no means past, and the illness might yet result fatally if the patient should suffer the slightest relapse.

WITHDRAWS AMENDMENT.

Senator Butler Gives Up His Confederate Pension Scheme.

DEFENDS SOUTHERN SOLDIERS

North Carolina Statesman says the seceding states were justified in their course — peace treaty under discussion in executive session.

Washington, Jan. 27.—As the senate seemingly was about to conclude consideration of the pension-appropriation bill late Thursday afternoon, Mr. Butler (pop., N. C.) offered his amendment, announced some time ago, providing for the pensioning of ex-confederate soldiers. Upon this he took the floor and delivered a speech which, as he proceeded, developed into a most unexpected utterance. Mr. Butler defended the position taken by the south during the great civil conflict of a third of a century ago.

After presenting an analysis of the compact of 1787, he declared that "not a single southern soldier was a rebel or a traitor." He maintained that the great fratricidal conflict was forced upon the south, and that the people of the south simply defended their personal and constitutional rights. Under the compact of 1787 the southern states, in Mr. Butler's opinion, undoubtedly had a right to withdraw from the union. He was inclined to think the compact was not right, but it was a compact and ought to have been respected.

"Every gun fired by a southern soldier," declared Mr. Butler, "was fired in self-defense of the constitutional rights of the southern states, and in defense of his home and fireside."

He believed that the states whose soldiers were being pensioned would not object to the pensioning of the ex-confederate soldiers.

At the conclusion of his speech Mr. Butler withdrew his amendment.

Mr. Platt (N. Y.) and Mr. Berry (Ark.) each gave notice of a speech on Mr. Vest's anti-expansion resolution. Mr. Platt will speak to-day, and Mr. Berry next Tuesday at the same time. A bill providing Mount Vernon square in this city as a site for a library to be erected by Andrew Carnegie at a cost of $250,000 as a gift to the city of Washington was discussed for a considerable time, but was laid aside under objection.

Mr. Mason (Ill.) announced that to-day he would ask for a vote on his resolution declaring it to be the policy of the United States not to attempt to govern the people of any other country without the consent of the people themselves.

PRESIDENT'S COURSE DISCUSSED.
Debate in the Senate Over His Failure to Furnish Information.

Washington, Jan. 27.—To-day's executive session of the senate was consumed in discussion of the failure of the president so far to send to the senate the documents in his possession and on file in the state department bearing upon the Paris conference.

Senator Gorman raised the point that the resolution had been adopted several days since, and addressed the senate at some length on the failure of the president to respond to the senate's request for information.

The attack of the Maryland senator was followed by similar speeches by Senators Vest and Hoar, and they were replied to by Senators Spooner and Platt. The five senators engaged in a running debate, the opponents of the treaty contending that the senate was entitled as a part of the treaty-making power to all the facts bearing upon the case, and the supporters of the document holding that the president could withhold any papers which he did not consider in the interest of the general welfare to give out.

The opinion is generally expressed that the time allowed for debate of the treaty in executive session will not be by any means consumed, as very few senators on either side desire to make speeches behind closed doors. The friends of the treaty profess increasing confidence for ratification, but there is some talk of adopting a negative resolution to the effect that the treaty does not bind the United States to the adoption of a colonial policy.

Shipping Bill Reported.

Washington, Jan. 27.—The Hanna-Payne shipping bill, after being somewhat amended in accordance with the desires of the shipping interests, was favorably reported from the senate committee on commerce and the house committee on merchant marine and fisheries.

Lee Has Practice Marches.
New York, Jan. 27.—Practice marches of the battalions stationed in Cuba have been beneficial and Gen. Lee has decided to continue them, says a special to the Tribune from Havana. He has determined to move a full brigade from its present camp, near Havana, to the hills of Candela, close to Guines. The location is unusually healthy.

Nervous Dyspepsia

To Gain Flesh, to Sleep Well, to Know What Appetite and Good Digestion Mean.

MAKE A TEST OF STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS.

No trouble is more common or more misunderstood than nervous dyspepsia. People having it think their nerves are to blame and are surprised that they are not cured by nerve medicines. The real seat of the mischief is lost sight of. The stomach is the organ to be looked after.

Nervous dyspeptics often do not have any pain whatever in the stomach, nor perhaps any of the usual symptoms of stomach weakness. Nervous dyspepsia shows itself not in the stomach so much as in nearly every organ. In some cases the heart palpitates and is irregular; in others the kidneys are affected; in others the bowels are constipated, with headaches; still others are troubled with loss of flesh and appetite with accumulations of gas, sour risings and heartburn.

It is safe to say that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure any stomach weakness or disease except cancer of the stomach. They cure sour stomach, gas, loss of flesh and appetite, sleeplessness, palpitation, heartburn, constipation and headache.

Send for valuable little book on stomach disease by addressing F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich. All druggists sell full-sized packages at 50 cents. Prof. Henry W. Becker, A. M., the well-known religious worker and writer of St. Louis.

E. church; also takes an active part in the work of the Epworth League, and to write on religious and educational topics for several magazines. How he found relief is best told in his own words:

"Some weeks ago my brother heard me say something about indigestion, and taking a box from his pocket said Try Stuart's Tablets! I did, and was promptly relieved. Then I investigated the nature of the tablets and became satisfied that they were made of just the right things and in just the right proportions to aid in the assimilation of food. I heartily endorse them in all respects, and I keep them constantly on hand."

Manifesto to Cubans.

Havana, Jan. 27.—The Cuban assembly has issued a manifesto advising the Cubans to keep quiet until it is officially known what the Washington government has decided to do in regard to paying the Cuban army. The assembly says in its proclamation that it represents 45,000 armed Cubans and will take care of their rights. At present the duty of all Cubans is to await the arrival of the Cuban commissioners from Washington with the answer of the United States government, and not make any display of disgust grounded on mere rumors.

DOES AWAY WITH JUNKETING.

Indiana Has One Committee to Visit All State Institutions.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 27.—The commission, composed of one senator and two representatives, which, acting under a law passed by the last legislature, visited all the state's penal, benevolent and reformatory institutions just before the beginning of this session, submitted its report to the legislature Thursday. The commission takes the place of the junketing committees that have hitherto visited the institutions. The report, which will be the guide of the ways and means committee, will give the state reformatory 300 additional cells, will provide for 300 additional inmates in the home for feeble-minded youth, will provide for 200 additional inmates in the central hospital for the insane, 118 in the eastern hospital for the insane, 100 in the northern hospital for the insane and 132 in the southern hospital for the insane. The commission recommends that a hospital for the criminal insane be built.

In the house the bill to take the appointment of metropolitan police commissioners out of the hands of the governor in all cities between 7,000 and 30,000 was defeated.

The house passed the bill establishing the convict labor system in the state prison. Each branch has now passed its own bill on the subject.

PRESIDENT SEARCH CHOSEN.

Association of Manufacturers Elects Officers and Adjourns.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 27.—The National Association of Manufacturers re-elected President Search Thursday and adjourned. Consideration of President Search's annual report was concluded and its recommendations approved. Resolutions were adopted asking congress to make additional liberal appropriations for the Paris exposition, and the executive committee was directed to go to Washington to work for such appropriations.

At the afternoon session the committee on resolutions offered a supplemental report, which was adopted, approving all the recommendations of the committee on transportation; endorsing the house bill for the improvement of the consular service, the Philadelphia exposition next summer, and the international exposition next year at Caracas, Venezuela; protesting against the new classification of freight that went into effect Jan. 1 and insisting upon the old minimum weight for a car-load; petitioning congress to improve the harbors so as to admit larger vessels.

Boston was selected for the place of holding the next convention.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Theodore C. Search, Philadelphia; secretary, E. P. Wilson, Cincinnati; treasurer, Charles A. Schlerer, New York.

GROCERY AND DRUG BILL.

Washington, Jan. 27.—The feature of the third day of the debate upon the bill for the reorganization and increase of the regular army was an hour's speech by Mr. Grosvenor of Ohio, whose utterances, rightly or wrongly, are frequently supposed to reflect the views of the president. Mr. Grosvenor declared most emphatically that the present situation in the Philippines was due to the opposition in this country to the ratification of the peace treaty. He announced that the future of the islands was a matter for congress to decide, and that for the president to announce a policy would be to him to usurp the authority of congress. The friends of the bill continue to express great confidence in the passage of the measure, but they admit that some important modifications may be made. The advocates of a general staff detailed from the line may be successful, and the size of the infantry companies may be reduced.

EXAMINATION OF BEEF

Chemist Wiley, of the Department of Agriculture, has reported to Secretary Wilson that an examination of samples of canned meats secured both in the open market and from the War Department, to determine the presence of any chemical preservatives failed to disclose any traces of borax, boric acid, sulphites, sulphuric acid, salicylic or benzoic acids. The presence of salt-peter was confirmed in all the samples of corned beef and so-called luncheon beef, but no trace of it was discovered in the roast beef, though common salt was present to a considerable extent. The test was made under an order of Secretary Wilson, and thirteen samples were inspected, eleven purchased in the open market and two obtained from the War Department. Of the former, eight, from five different packing houses, were corned beef, two, packed by the Armour Canning Company, of Chicago, and the Armour Packing Company, of Kansas City, were luncheon beef, and the other sample roast beef.

Quotations

"Say, I'll bet that fellow in the other end of the room who is talking so confidently about handling the ribbons never drove a horse in all his life. What right has he to talk about ribbons?" "He sells 'em in a dry goods store"—Indianapolis Journal.

Cattle Rustling from a Hub.

With the demolition of Mazas prison, in Paris, the first prison in France constructed on the old cellular system has disappeared. There were 1,200 cells, radiating like the spokes of a wheel, and so arranged that each prisoner could see the chapel from the door and listen to divine service without leaving his cell.

Shakespeare's Great Words to Men.

Probably no words of Shakespeare have so impressed weak men as those well known lines: "Canst thou not minister to a mind diseased, raze out the troubles of the brain, and with some sweet antidote, cleanse from that which so weighs upon the heart?" This thrilling yet plaintive cry finds and echo in the heart of every weak, enervated, nerve exhausted and vigorous man, who, through ignorance of consequences, has brought himself to a condition of nervous and physical debility. Modern medical science has indeed provided the "antidote," and the discoveries of a great physician have placed within reach of every weak and erring man the wonderful strength-giving, vitalizing and invigorating remedies which will restore him again to strong, vigorous and powerful manhood. We refer to the marvelous medicines of Dr. Greene, of 148 State St., Chicago, Ill., one of whose discoveries, known as Dr. Greene's Nervura, has made his name famous throughout the world, and whose discoveries of wonderful restorative medicines for weakened and nerve-exhausted men give hope of perfect and complete manhood to every suffering man. Dr. Greene can be consulted free of charge, personally or by letter, and you can use those grand remedies and be cured at home, without the loss of time and expense of a trip to the city. By all means write to Dr. Greene and get his advice and council about your case. It will cost you nothing and may result in making a new man of you.

Scalper's Wonderful Memory.

A scholar of marvelous range was the famous Joseph Justus Scaliger, who was born at Agen, in the South of France, on the 4th of August, 1540. He studied Latin under his father, Greek he learned under Turnebus at Paris; and such was his passion for the classics that he committed Homer to memory in twenty-one days, and read all the Greek poets within four months. He was master of thirteen languages, and was reckoned one of the literary heroes of his age, and treated with extraordinary respect at Leyden, where he died at the age of sixty-nine. In 1593 he succeeded Lipsius in the chair of literature at Leyden University, which he held till his death on the 21st of January, 1609.

TIGHT ROPE WALKER SUES COLONEL HALL

EVANSVILLE CIRCUS MAN DEFENDANT.

Case of Interest Called In The Municipal Court This Morning—Performer Asks For $240 Back Salary, Jury Drawn In the Case of State Versus Brewer.

Colonel George W. Hall, Sr., of Evansville, sole owner and manager of "the greatest show on earth," appeared in the municipal court this morning as defendant in the entitled action of Frank Macart vs. George W. Hall, Sr. The plaintiff brings suit for the recovery of $245, which sum he claims is due him for back salary.

Colonel Hall asked for further time, and the case was adjourned till February 8 at 9 o'clock.

The plaintiff in the action is a bright appearing young man, and according to his story he has been given the short end of it by Colonel Hall. Macart says that for several years past he has been a performer with circuses, and although he did several acts, his particular specialty was work on the slack wire and rope, and at this he claims to be above the average performer. When Colonel Hall and his wagon show left the quiet little burg of Evansville last spring, Macart says he was hired to perform during the afternoon and evening performances at a fair weekly salary until the show closed in the fall.

The circus, after leaving the Badger state, worked south, and it was a poor day when they didn't pay expenses. According to Macart he had trouble with Colonel Hall about securing his full allowance each week, and although he received enough to live on from day to day, there was at the end of the season $240 due him. He further says that he repeatedly asked Mr. Hall for this money, but was always refused.

Macart's performance on the tight rope is said to have won for him loud applause through the south, and Colonel Hall could not find fault with his act not having given satisfaction.

Colonel Hall, in speaking of the action brought by Macart, stated today that the plaintiff was overreaching himself, and that he is suing for more than he really is entitled to.

Colonel Hall further alleges that Macart was a good man in the ring, and that he looked well in pink tights and made a creditable performance, but that he broke one of the twelve commandments when he stated that he had at the end of the season $240 back salary coming from the show.

Colonel Hall is worth about $40,000 and is known all over Rock county.

Macart says that as plaintiff he has secured the best of legal talent, and that he will make a strong effort on Feb. 3 to entrap Colonel Hall with one of the warmest shows that he ever had the pleasure of witnessing.

One of the interested attorneys said today, that it would likely be necessary at the trial to summon all the performers, from the girl on the trapeze to the fat lady in the side show as witnesses.

COLD WEATHER NOW PREVAILS

Thermometers Indicate a Fall of Several Degrees in This City.

Bower City residents have been treated to a spell of real winter during the past twenty-four hours. At 5 o'clock this morning the 10 below-zero mark had been reached in several sections of the city.

If zero weather is going to break up the gripas doctors have during the past few weeks prophesied, then the disease is bound to go. At midnight the mercury already had fallen to the zero mark, and early this morning it was making a still further descent. The cold wave which set in early yesterday morning, according to the weather man, is here to stay for a few days at least.

HE WANTS AN ACCOUNTING

Charles Lyons Thinks the Otter Creek Association Should Report

Charles Lyons, one of the stockholders of the Otter Creek Butter and Cheese Building Association, has been in consultation with Janesville attorneys this week in regard to compelling the company's officers to make a report.

"The company has held no meeting since 1890," said Mr. Lyons to a Gazette reporter. "It's about time they showed what has been done."

A question of tenancy is involved in the proceeding, which attracts much interest in Otter Creek.

LITTLE CHANGE IN TOBACCO MARKET

SOME BUYERS REFUSE TO PAY PRICES DEMANDED.

Deliveries At the Warehouses Are Large—An Organized Effort Being Made to Gather In the Crop—Warehousesmen Are Kept Busy These Days.

In speaking of conditions in the Janesville tobacco market the Farm and Home says that there is but little change in local conditions, there being several buyers riding from this and the adjoining markets and a goodly number of crops have been picked up at prices about the same as have prevailed for some time, from 4 to 7 cents in the bundle.

Some of the buyers have caused riding, claiming that farmers are asking too much, but others are pegging along, paying the prices quoted above.

We understand that two or three eastern men have entered the state and will begin buying, adding new life to the contest.

Since our last report a great deal of tobacco has been delivered, dozens of loads coming in every day. Last Saturday at least one hundred teams delivered at local warehouses one of which was a four horse load of about 3,500 pounds.

The warehouses are nearly all running full blast and hundreds of cases are packed every day. In old goods a fairly active trade is maintained and shipments are liberal.

Says the Wisconsin Tobacco Reporter: "A new impulse has been given the tobacco movement this week by several new buyers entering the field and something like a lively chase has developed in what seems to be an organized attempt to gather in the balance of the crop. Some as rapid buying has been done the past ten days as any time since the market opened. It appears to be no longer an effort to pick selections, but rather a disposition to buy on the best terms obtainable. Under such sharp competition prices have been cracked up another point or so until the ruling prices now are quite 2¢ above the opening sales. Should this condition long continue the remnant of the crop will bring the growers fully as much as the choicest selections earlier in the season.

The warehouses help are busy now receiving the crop from growers, who have most of their stripping done, and are anxious to realize on their crops.

Some old leaf is moving in limited quantities, the only large transaction reaching us being the sale of 100 cases of '97 Wisconsin to the American Tobacco company by a New York firm, who maintain an agency in this market.

The shipments out of storage reach a total of 100 cases from this station to all points for the week. Since last report 562 cases of cigar leaf were exported from New York.
